Behind the Seams. An indiscreet look at the mechanics of Fashion

Les Arts Décoratifs; Paris, France

4 July to 24 November

Les Arts Décoratifs descends into the world of undergarments, examining the effect of flies, corsets, panniers, bustles, poufs and bras. The exhibition examines the underlying architecture of fashion and how they have evolved over the centuries. Composed of museum pieces, the exhibition aims to illuminate a much under-discussed aspect of the fashion industry.

The Second Life Of Roy G. Biv

Gallery Libby Sellers; London, UK

4 July to 16 August

An examination of colour, the gallerist Libby Sellers hosts an exhibition of work from Anton Alvarez, Julie Richoz, Peter Marigold, Ryuji Nakamura and Paola Petrobelli. Most of the works on display were shown during Design Miami/Basel 2013, including Alvarez's thread-wrapped furniture and Richoz's paper study Armand, but Roy G. Biv represents a chance to see the work for a second time in London

Design Parade 8

Villa Noailles; Hyères, France

5 July to 29 September

The eighth edition of Design Parade arrives with, as usual, much of the attention focused on the 10 Designers competition. But alongside the work of the 10 competing young designers, there is enough additional content to fascinate. Particularly worth looking out for are exhibitions from Marcel Breuer, Aldo Bakker and Julie Richoz, while Bertjan Pot - the jury head for the 10 Designers competition - will also stage an exhibition of his work.
